Doan's Kidney Pills have done splendid work in this locality.

Have merited the unstinted praise they have received.

E. C. Libby, tax collector, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do anything. Not only this, but my head ached and I noticed specks floating before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used different remedies but it was left to Doan's Kidney Pills to give me lasting results. I got Doan's and since using them I have had no return of kidney complaint."

(Statement given June 6, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since being cured by Doan's. My faith in this remedy is just as strong as ever."

A Confirmed

Statement

Evidence Norway Readers Will Appreciate

Doan's Kidney Pills have done splendid work in this locality.

Have merited the unstinted praise they have received.

Here's evidence of their value that none can doubt.

It's testimony from this locality twice told and well confirmed.

Such endorsements are unique in the annals of medicine.

Should convince the most skeptical Norway reader.

E. C. Libby, tax collector, Sanborn St., Norway, says: "I had a great deal of backache which annoyed me to do any thing. Not only this, but my head ached and I noticed specks floating before my eyes and my sight blurred. I used different remedies but it was left to Doan's Kidney Pills to give me lasting results. I got Doan's and since using them I have had no return of kidney complaint."

(Statement given June 6, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mr. Libby said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since being cured by Doan's. My faith in this remedy is just as strong as ever."

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. CATARRHAL DEAFNESS is a constitutional disease. CATARRHAL DEAFNESS is caused by an infection of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result. The inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be restored forever.

TO RELIEVE PAIN AND BACKACHE

Women May Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I had heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that when I realized I needed to take something to relieve my pains and backache, and to help build me up I began to take that. I had been sick off and on for years and barely weighed a hundred pounds, but now I have had such good results that I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to every one."—Mrs. J. J. BIEBER, 3839 18th Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Finds a True Friend
"Every woman who values her health should be proud to have a true friend like the Vegetable Compound," says Mrs. W. E. Shaw, 3227 Walnut Street, Chicago, Illinois. "I had been so weak so long that I could not stand on my feet. Half of my time was spent in bed and I had pains in my back which were unbearable. I tried everything I could think of to help myself, and when a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began taking it at once. I recommend it without hesitation."

The VETERAN MOTORIST gives a few rules of the road

SOMEONE HAS SAID THAT "IF" is the biggest little word in the language. If a very close friend of mine had used his head on a certain day, he wouldn't have knocked a school boy down and come within an ace of crippling him for life.

"It was queer, that day, about Jerry. Usually, a good, cool, level-headed driver. But, somehow, his attention must have been wandering, and as the kid ran out in front of him—he did the wrong thing. And he was upset about it for months after.

"His insurance company settled up the case in due time. But Jerry said something to me after it was all over that set me to thinking and I'll never forget it. Said he: 'My liability insurance protected me, but it didn't protect that boy. It paid the doctor's bills but it didn't help that youngster's suffering one iota.'

"I'd never thought of it in just that way before, but I have ever since. Youngsters are careless at times and it's up to us motorists to make up for what they lack by using more than ordinary care when they're around."

Cuts Better Lasts Longer

You will appreciate the John Deere Mower the moment you see it in action. You will notice particularly its simplicity, its great cutting power and the ease with which it is handled. These advantages, combined with the extra years of service it gives, makes the John Deere a mighty profitable mower investment.

JOHN DEERE MOWER

The Mower with the Balanced Gears

The driving gears on the John Deere are balanced—one set offsets the thrust of the other set. This eliminates side wear and strain. This mower transmits maximum power to the high grade carefully-fitted knife—that's why the John Deere does a better job of cutting and pulls lighter.

Another feature—if after years of use, lag develops in the cutter bar, this can be taken out—the bar is aligned by a simple eccentric adjustment. The John Deere handles easily. The bar can be raised high with the foot lever to pass over ordinary obstructions. With the hand lever an extremely high lift can be secured quickly and easily. It's no job to keep the John Deere in good running order. All parts are easily replaced; adjustments easily made—its simplicity is a real feature.

Be sure to see this mower before you buy.
It's the best mower we have ever seen.

Also, John Deere Hay Loaders, Side Delivery Rakes and Haying Machinery of all kinds.

All our implements were bought at the lowest prices that Farm Machinery has touched in five years and we are making our prices accordingly.

BATES—WEST PARIS

Barden, a prisoner in Sing Sing for his brother's guilt, frees himself when he learns that his baby daughter whom he thought dead, now a young lady, and living. James Barclay (Sherman Billings), who wanted to get the daughter, Leola (Madeline Berry) to marry, by fair means or foul, takes the hard-hearted and vindictive part and did it finely. Judge Victor Cruger (Simchaux) of the Supreme Court and his wife (Mildred Davis) in whose home the lost daughter was found; Jackson, the negro footman (Albert Scribner) and Sally the maid (Marion Peabody), Miss Sedley (Leona Marston), who took pleasure in being disagreeable; and the Grange (Karl Briggs), a social leader, who was the successful suitor of Lena's hand, and Warren Burrows (Albert Scribner), all of whom make the story clear and the interest well kept up through the entire play.

INDIANS AND ANIMALS

Indians are fond of animals, but not being of a sentimental turn of mind they have a different way of showing their feelings. As we all know, the red man prides himself on keeping his feelings "inside." He possesses a queer sense of humor. Something which would strike the risibles of a white man might be witty, less face, while something in the way of a "surprise" would likely convulse the latter with as much merriment as he is capable of.

Said a Westerner to me, "When in Dakota I was inspecting a barn where some Indian boys were milking. There were twenty-five stables. One of the cows kicked over a milk pail which was nearly full of milk. Most of the Indian boys along the line of stables jumped up, laughing as hard as they were capable of laughing; gathering around him as if some great joke were in progress. The victim, instead of revenging the accident on the cow, by hitting back, lay down and rolled over with mirth, as though the joke had been on the cow, instead of himself. This was surely a fine example of good nature for the white man to emulate."

The popular belief that the Indian has a passionate love for his dog does not seem to be evidenced in real life, especially among the older and more uneducated Indians, judging from what has been told me by people who have lived among them for many years.

"I have often noticed," said one man, "that if an Indian's dog follows him, the Indian will as likely as not grunt 'Huh-uh,' which is, in effect, 'Get out,' for the dog generally takes to his heels."

"I have spent many years among the Indians," said he, "and I have never noticed an Indian pet his dog."

This does not say that an Indian does not care for his dog, but that if he does, he has a rather strange way of showing it.

"Indian boys catch fox-squirrels and tame them. They love to catch the young squirrels and carry them in their pockets to place under the floors of their dormitory rooms," said an Indian teacher to me. "One boy caught a big bull-snake, without fangs, and wanted to keep it in his room."

I was told by a woman who had spent much time on the Indian reservation that twenty-five years ago the old Indians were very fond of dog-meat. If any one poisoned a dog, they would take the dead dog and put him in a kettle for a stew. This did not seem to ever work fatal results, although a small amount of strychnine will kill a dog.

Indians as a general thing do not seem to be so mean to their horses, but they do not feed them well, partly because they are too lazy. The horses are not worked hard, but this is likely also because of the Indian's dislike for hard work. The squaws take care of the horses. From what I can learn, the Indians do not seem to care much for cats, although they keep many of them. They treat them kindly, but do not show much affection.

I find that Indians often hunt rabbits in a curious way. Said a teacher in one of the Indian schools, "He takes a stick two feet long, and fastens an iron nut off a railroad track on it. He will carry several such sticks with him when hunting rabbits. When the rabbit comes near the Indian aims so straight that in nine cases out of ten it is sure to end the career of poor bunny. The Indian has been vision. This method of hunting rabbits is dead easy for him at ten or fifteen feet."

This sharp sight of the Indians gives them a great range of observation, so that what seems to us secrets of the outdoor world are to them an open book. An old Indian said to me, "When I was a boy my father told me, 'Make your ears wide that they may hear and make your eyes big that they may see.'"

The animals, the winds and the clouds, and the woodland waters give to them of their knowledge, and thus the Indians are keen in all ways and wonders of the great out-of-doors. Who but an Indian can tie his horse to a hole in the ground?

Indians have much superstition in their attitude toward animals and toward nature and the regard with awe and reverence any animal or bird if they believe them to have brought some good luck to themselves or their people. In William J. Long's book, "Wilderness Ways," he tells of Simmo, the Millicite Indian guide, "his dark face peering by the corner of his eye at the Indian who better see the little singer on my tent" (white-throated sparrow).

"Have better weather and better luck now. Killdeer sing on ridgepole," he said confidently.

John Muir, the famous Alaska traveler, week before last, gave a very interesting account of his acquaintance with the Indians, and can even imitate their motions, language, etc." He says that after attending an Alaskan Indian dance a number of the Indians gave excellent imitations of the gait, gestures and behavior of several animals, and that they were very accurate in their imitations of the movements, walking, hunting, capturing and devouring their prey, etc.

"While all were quietly seated, waiting to see what next would happen, the door of the big house was suddenly thrown open and in bounded a bear, so true to life in form and gestures that we were all startled, though it was only a bear skin nicely fitted on a man who was intimately acquainted with the animals and knew how to imitate them." He also says that the Indians have great respect or reverence for wolves, believing they have souls. They give as the reason for this belief the great wisdom and cunning of the wolf.—(Our Dumb Animals.)

ASTEROIDS

Suppose we were on a circular frozen lake, half a mile in diameter, let this represent the plane of the earth, and the sun is a large and very minute speck of dust are scattered over the whole surface. In the exact center, place a wood-globe two feet in diameter, from it swing a string 82 ft. long and mark a circle in the dust, then lengthen the string to 142 feet and mark another circle. Now if you sweep the dust on the ice, each side of the 82 ft. circular mark, toward the globe and toward the 142 ft. mark and mould this dust into a tiny ball the size of a mustard seed and place it on the 82 ft. circle, this will represent the planet Mercury and with other planets of the sun.

Lengthen the line again to 215 ft. and sweep the remaining dust between the last two lines and mould it into a little ball the size of a pea, and place it on the 142 ft. circle. Now mark another circle on the ice, each side of the 215 ft. circle and continue the example with a half sized pea for Mars at 327 feet on circle. Then there is a big jump for the next which reaches to the shore of the lake a quar-

NORWAY—PORTLAND

FROM FLORIDA TO MAINE

By Lydia Lord Stead

A few more facts about Florida and we will resume our homeward trip. Florida is said to be developing faster than any other state in the Union. It is the only state having an East coast and a West coast. It is said by those who have visited the West coast, that the storms are more severe, the winds higher and colder there than on the East coast.

Among the other fanciful names given Florida, which are many is the "Modern Garden of Eden." Florida has 1200 acres in strawberries, and it is capable of having a thousand more, to every one now in cultivation. The longleaf pine is here. For timber and turpentine they are very valuable. We have some of the needles given us by Dr. Hubbard, formerly of Lowell, he found in Felsmere, that are 2 1/2 inches in length. They are made into beautiful baskets.

We have a picture taken of a grape fruit tree. The diameter of the fruit was from 5 to 7 inches, the circumference of one was 22 in. There is no sale for those that are so large. We could buy them for $9.00 per box, skin very thick. In western Florida the blueberry is a valuable crop to raise. The berries were called Huckleberries, or rabbit eyes. A few years ago the tree was practically wild. Now they are set out in orchards about 300 to an acre. The berries are picked in the summer and early fall. The average yield is from 20 to 40 quarts to a tree, and bring 40 cents per quart. The tree begins bearing in eighteen months after being set out. At ten years of age an orchard has hundred, to forty-five hundred dollars an acre. They require no spraying and are free from pests, or any diseases. The price of the tree is from ten cents to one dollar, according to size.

The Chinese velvet bean is one of the most valuable in the South. It originated from one bean sent to the Florida Experiment Station among others. From this one bean more than five hundred bushels of beans were grown in five years and distributed to the farmer in Florida. There is a bean also named Isocola. There is a pea called the black-eyed pea. That is very strange. It looks like a bean in every way when dry. We planted some while in the South. They grew very fast, were good as shelled peas, or broken like string beans and used the same. We shall try for a Florida garden this year.

The coolest place in summer in Florida is the coast on the very highest points in the center though the mosquitoes are the thickest on the coasts. They are a terrible pest for a few months during the summer time. Chickens cannot be raised here in the summer. The mosquitoes will kill them.

Paul Burdt, one of the wealthiest men in Vero came here about eight years ago, unable to walk, having suffered a severe shock, one side entirely helpless, couldn't see out of his left eye and his face twisted out of shape. Today he is a well man and a great worker. He has one of the finest residences in town—a perfect picture of beauty. He has all kinds of Palms, and tropical plants, and flowers. He has done all of this since coming here. He told us this one day while we were calling there. Safe to say he will never leave Florida. We would not recommend it for consumptives. The place seems too low, and damp in most places. Many go there in hopes to recuperate but have not seen many who did as a rule.

A great actor said, after having homes in nearly all parts of the world, he had come back to Florida and built him a home as this seemed the ideal in which to spend his last days.

We admire Florida very much but after all it is said there is no place just like our own dear old Maine. We shall always remember the pleasant winter we spent in Florida, and the many dear friends we left in the sunny South. We spent two days and nights in St. Augustine, enjoying the sights in the beautiful old city. Tuesday we resumed our journey, well satisfied with our visit there. We made a short stop in the city of Jacksonville, the gate of Florida, a large and busy city. We crossed a toll bridge, a long cement structure where we could look down, and over a large part of the city. Then on to a long wooden bridge the line between Florida and Georgia. Leaving the bridge we came to a fine road of hard red rock. One of the finest pieces of road we have seen. It was beautiful to see the dark salmon colored road with the border of green grass on either side. After a few miles of this road we came to a poor stretch, narrow and very rough with deep ruts almost impassable for an auto. We crossed bridge after bridge of rotting planks, great holes in them. We held our breath while crossing them. They were over deep ravines and black rivers. Through long "dark swamps" we made our weary way. Then we came to more red clay, and shell roads and found no trouble after, all very good roads. There are many new roads under construction. By next fall they will be done. We made a number of detours through woods that were very rough. The new roads are wonderful, as good or better than any in Maine.

There are not many oranges or grapefruit raised in Georgia. We spent our first night in Georgia, in Waycross at Hotel Florence, very fine rooms, and No. 1 beds and good food. Many machine shops here. We visited the Waycross Journal-Herald Office the only daily newspaper in eleven adjoining counties. Waycross is the metropolis of South Georgia, population, 21,000. Fifty-eight passenger trains daily, cold storage plant, two ice factories, glass plant, electric plant, railway motor car manufacturing, twelve garages, five parks, twelve swimming pools. There are five public school buildings. We saw many splendid high school buildings in Georgia, all of brick and on high land. Waycross is on the Dixie Highway. It has a city hall, costing $75,000.00, an $80,000.00 Y. M. C. A. and the third largest cypress lumber plant in the United States.

Roses bloom in the open every month in the year. We saw walnut and pecan groves. Every farm had peach trees on it, from a few large orchards. Sugar cane, tobacco, peanuts, pears, plums, grapes, everything in the vegetable line one can name is grown here. Saw nurseries of bridal wreath plants all in bloom, cotton and rice here too; many Georgian mansions, and fine plantations, hogs, cattle, sheep, goats and mules raised here, also turkeys, geese, ducks, and chickens. Saw turkey buzzards, eagles and hawks. The best of fishing is found here, also good hunting.

HEBRON ACADEMY

Awarded Scholarship

Richard L. Thomas of Sumner, Maine, has been awarded the highest scholarship honors at Hebron Academy for this year. He will deliver the valedictory at the 119th commencement anniversary at the Institution, to be held from June 9th to 13th. Thomas is a master of French and Spanish, and has the additional honor of having practically worked his way through school during the entire time that he has been a member of the undergraduate body. He is a very popular boy, being a football and track letter man, ex-president of the Phi Delta Alpha, and editor-in-chief of the Hebron Semester, and Manager of the Track team for this year. His rank for the entire time that he has been at Hebron was 93 1/2 per cent. which is remarkable, owing to the fact that he has taken the classical course which is the hardest in the curriculum of the Academy.

Carlos Crandall of Groton, Conn., was awarded the salutatory, and Ralph Bernard of Boston, Mass., the class history. Other commencement parts have been assigned as follows: Clarence Cole of Cornish, Me., the class will; Edward L. Penney of West Paris, the prophet; Wm. S. Armstrong of Rosindale, Mass., the address to undergraduates; Joseph Murphy of Guilford, Me., the oration; Myron Mason of Boston, Mass., the class poem, and Carlton Gray of Portland, the class ode.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached on Sunday, June 10th, in the Hebron Baptist Church by the Rev. Frank Dean Tubbs of Lewiston, and the Choral Vesper Services at 4:30 P. M., at the Hebron Baptist Church will be in charge of Dr. George P. Finnie of the United Baptist Church of Lewiston.

Oakland Owners

praise Oakland Dependability

This car has stood up under all kinds of adverse road conditions. I consider it the best light six on the market.

Up to date I have driven a car 21,000 miles. I have averaged 20 miles or better per gallon of gasoline.

My car has run 17,857 miles. The car has not cost me one cent for upkeep.

This is the eighth car I have owned and am glad to state that I have been more pleased with the Oakland than any other.

I purchased my car March 1, 1922, and up to the present time have run 21,500 miles without grinding the valves or cleaning the carbon.

We made the trip to Los Angeles (3,625 miles) in 20 days. No trouble on road, except two punctures.

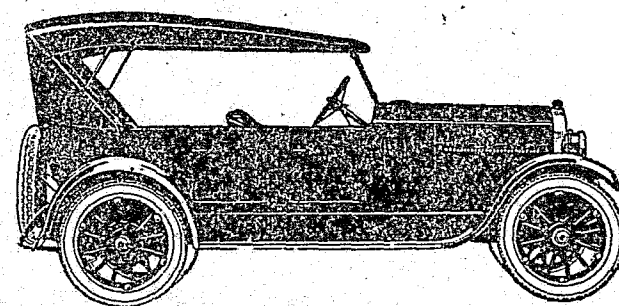

VERIFY for yourself the dependability and economy reflected by these letters.

Ask any Oakland owner what he thinks of his car.

Step into an Oakland showroom and get the new booklet "Evidence" which gives these letters, and scores of others, — typical examples of the hundreds in our files.

Do you wonder that Oakland is able to give a written 15,000 mile engine guarantee, not duplicated by any other manufacturer, and in the "Mileage Basis Plan" offers you a definite gauge by which to measure actual car value!
